NEAR EUREKA

EUREKA (A)-Heavy overnight rains caused a slide which blocked all four lanes of the new U.S. 101 freeway today and pushed the Eel River above flood stage.

The slide blocked the highway near Dyerville Bridge 40 miles south of Eureka. Traffic was moving over the old highway.

The Eel's level at Fernbridge was 18 feet at 10 a.m. and was expected to crest at 20. Flood stage is 17.5. Low lying dairy lands in Ferndale Valley were ex-pected to be flooded but no serious damage was likely.

BIRD FINDS UNUSUAL PERCH

A flyweight "kinglet" made an emergency landing on the roof of Mrs. Violet Jenning's car in Portland, Ore., recently, then stayed for treatment from Mrs. Jennings, a registered nurse. The bird is a Golden-crown Kinglet, a creature that's sometimes heard but seldom seen. Healthier Kinglets make their homes in the highest reaches of the evergreen trees in the Pacific Northwest.

Highway 101 at Richardson Bay Bridge

Continued from page 1 now is exceeding its allowable 175,000 gallons per day flow by several times in wet weather. If the district entered into agreement with the Ross Valley District for improvement of the plant, the contract would be null and void in 30 years (the life expectancy of the plant) and residents would have nothing to show for their money with no legal interest in the plant, directors contend.

REASONS LISTED The board's reasons for construction of a Corte Madera treatment plant include:

1. Enlargements could be made as desired.

2. Treatment cost would not be at double rate if normal plant capacity is exceeded. 3. District would direct how its funds are spent. 4. The district would control operation of the plant. 5. The useful life of the plant could be determined by the district.

6. Development of the Corte Madera watershed would not be regulated by non-residents.

The measure has been op- Millionaire posed by a 15-man citizen committee which recently studied the sanitation situation.

TAX ISSUE

The committee advocated a ure is not urgent and that a Irvine, owner of one of the 'no" vote on grounds the meassuitable agreement can be country's largest ranches, comworked out with the Ross Val- mitted suicide yesterday by ley board.

The group claims the bonds would make the district the highest taxed district in the county and that improvement found her multimillionaire husof existing sewer lines still would have to be done. It claims $250,000 in local and federal funds could be saved by an agreement with the Ross Valley District.

Also, the committee holds the location of the plant "near of Highway 101 would be unnecessary and undesirable."

CHIEF JUSTICE GIBSON SAYS MAGIC WORDS

SAN FRANCISCO (A)-Chief Justice Phil S. Gibson of the California Supreme Court was treated just like everyone else preparing to get on a plane with Anastas I. Mikoyan yesterday.

He was given a rigid security check and surveyed with a geiger counter for signs of radioactivity.

He took this quietly enough, waiting in line with other passengers who finally boarded the United Air Lines flight to Los Angeles.

But when the State Department officials and local policemen opened his suitcase and started pawing among his shirts, shorts and pajamas, this was too much.

Drawing himself up, he declared to the airport in general:

"They would not do this in Russia!"

The officers hastily stuffed the judge's belongings back into his bag and Gibson boarded his plane with the Soviet first deputy premier.

Long-Range Benefits From North Marin Unification

The first move toward making a sensible pattern out of Marin County's crazy quilt of 29 school districts reaches the day of decision tomorrow in North

Voters of Novato and San Jose school districts will ballot on whether to combine the two as one unified district. A majority vote in each existing district is necessary to enact the unification.

The North Marin election is being watched with high interest elsewhere in the county, and particularly by members of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization. That committee's long studies have resulted so far in several new unification proposals. That for Novato and San Jose districts is the first to come to a vote.

In the case at issue, some advantages and some disadvantages are readily apparent.

Unification would mean, for San Jose District residents, that their children could attend high school near home, in a "home rule" district, instead of in San Rafael (or, at best, in a new high school planned between San Rafael and Terra Linda). But Novato already has a unified district, with a high school under the same administration as elementary schools, so this consideration does not prevail for Novato voters.

On the other hand, while unification might mean a tax cut in Novato district, it would undoubtedly mean a tax increase in San Jose, according to trustees of the San Jose district.

It is to be hoped this matter of the immediate future tax rate will not weigh too heavily with San Jose district voters tomorrow.

The anomaly of separate districts for elementary and high schools is, happily, on its way out in California. School redistricting has far to go before a sensible pattern evolves, but it is on its way.

A setback for a progressive redistricting program in Marin County's first test tomorrow could hamper the whole program for this county. .

Residents of the present San Jose district will have a voice in operation of a unified North Marin district-if one is approved. Long-range continuing benefits should not be sacrificed for temporary tax savings.

The Elegant Red-Wing

Few Marin birds are more handsome than the Tri-colored Red-Wing. See him sitting on a cat-tail or reed, coal black with a neat white trimmed patch of vivid scarlet on each wing. Is he not elegant?

He makes his home in marshy spots for he is a lover of water. One of the most common birds in the U.S., the Red-Wing family is divided into numerous sub-species, one of which lives exclusively in the Bay Area.

Compared to the male in his fancy dress suit, the female is rather drab. She is garbed in a dusky brown. They make their nest of grass among the reeds and feed on seeds and grain varied with insects and fruit in season. He is a delightful spot of color in our Marin countryside.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

WHAT ONE LITTLE RAT CAN DO One little rat caused a dike to collapse in England recently.

After the rodent had burrowed through the embankment of a canal, water began seeping through. Slowly but surely, the original trickle became a sizable stream. Soon one bank collapsed and a 40-foot breakthrough let the water pour out in torrents.

Three million gallons of water escaped; the canal was drained for 7 miles; more than a million fish were swept away and a 20-foot gorge was channeled through a near-by field. It took sixy men with bulldozers three weeks to shift 30,000 tons of soil and repair

As one tiny rat caused tremendous harm, so can one individual like you start a chain reaction that will benefit everyone.

You may never be aware of the far reaching good resulting from a seemingly insignificant prayer, word or deed. But God is and that is what counts.

"To them that love God, all things work together unto good." (Romans 8:28)

Inspire me to see in the smallest details an opportunity to honor You, O God.

In filing on all the unappropriated water of the state of California, the Department of Water Resources planned to hold this resource until proper developments could make it available.

However, all that so far has been done is the development of the "California Water Plan" by the department. The plan never has been approved or disapproved by the Legislature. Consequently for practical purposes, it is merely a recommendation of the Department of Water Resources for future development.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA feels development should go ahead, and some legislators from that section of the state are of the opinion that if the state itself does not proceed with its conservation plans, the south through the Metropolitan Water district should be allowed to develop the unappropriated water for usage in Southern California. Filings on various streams in northwestern California have been mentioned.

Northern and Central California legislators, on the other hand, are of the opinion that the water should be retained until the plan is complete, and assurance given that the unappropriated surplus will not be needed for northern California development prior to the releasing of filings to the

Warn Dog Owners Of Responsibility

Independent-Journal:

After all the warning given to dog owners not to let their dogs wander in the streets, there are so many running around again it is a wonder the poor animals do not get hurt or cause automobile acci-

I counted seven dogs on Mission Avenue between the High School and the top of the hill last Saturday on my way home and I had to make a complete stop to avoid one of them at the risk of being hit by another car back of me.

Also, there is a dog that comes around nearly every morning about 5 a.m.; it upsets our garbage can in search of bones or whatever may be there. I spread out powder every now and then in and about the can and I am afraid the dog may get sick or even poisoned -- not to mention having to clean up the awful mess it makes.

Why don't people who have pets look out for them better and feed them so they do not have to look in garbage cans for food?

While I am writing about safety on Mission Avenue I wish to say that it is very difficult to pass a car coming or going from the school to Belle avenue. Cars should not be allowed to park on both sides, especially when school buses stop there . . . With all the parking spaces around the school, one would think the avenue could be less crowded. On ball game days it is just impossible and many of us

Those Sunday Parking Meters May Deplete Sausalito Church Coffers

City Council meeting about making parking meters operative on Sunday, a lady who foresaw problems among parishioners attending a nearby church arose to drive home her point.

Said she, "I can just see the church, when about 10 minutes before the end of the service and as the collection plates start their rounds, half the congregation rises to go outside and feed the parking meters." Nevertheless, the measure was passed, but the council agree to try to work out something that would keep the worshippers closer to the collection plates.

SAUSALITO BUILDING inspector Bill Hynes, some months ago, decided to become a builder of a steam locomotive model. To obtain proper plans, he wrote to a magazine published in London, England. In one of the early copies Bill received, he found that one of the world's real authorities on such things is not only an American but is Frederic Shaw, who lives a block away from Bill's place.

AT LAST WEEK'S Sausalito city council meeting, developer Morden Dunn was having a mild roundelay with the council on certain aspects of his proposed elaborate subdivision near the Bayside School. There were questions of engineering involved. Dunn protested that his plans were prepared by a qualified civil engineer that he was sure would be accepted by Sausalito city engineer John C. Oglesby. It developed during the discussion that Dunn's engineer was - John C. Oglesby, who was not present at the meeting.

OGLESBY, BY THE WAY, submitted his written resignation at the same council meeting. He said later that pressure of business was the reason. The next day he admitted that "long wrangling and after midnight meetings twice a month" had something to do with it. He is still city engineer for San Anselmo, Ross and Larkspur.

THERE WAS QUITE a ruck-

City manager Don Duerr suggested that only one hour, say from 6 a.m. to 7 a.m. would do it. The plan was voted down (councilwoman Marjorie Brady dissenting) on the basis that to ban parking for one hour would in effect ban all-night parking, an accepted practice because of the shortage of garage space. The decision puts the council majority in an interesting position, since in 1940 an ordinance was passed banning parking all-night anywhere in the city.

CHICAGO (A)-The president of Notre Dame University, appearing on a local television program last night, spoke of world relations, Africa and the space age, but dodged questions on football.

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh appeared a bit uneasy when interviewer Norman Ross mentioned the dismissal of football coach Terry Brennan. However, he recovered nicely.

Father Hesburgh reminded Ross their interview date was made last September, before the start of the football season and long before the firing of Brennan, four days before Christmas

Father Hesburgh joked which likened Notre Dame to Scrooge and Brennan to Tiny

He said his answer to national comment concerning the Brennan situation would be released in New York Wednesday and appear later this week in a Sports Illustrated magazine.

So superior were the Tars that Coach Cal Riemcke used his starting unit for only approximately 19 minutes of action and cleared his bench of serves in the walkaway victory.

The halftime margin was 32-11 as Marin outplayed the 49ers in all departments. The Tars took a total of 32 rebounds while Yuba could come down with only 12. While Marin was connecting on 25 of 63 floor shots for 40 per cent the 49ers had only 32 shots and made good on only 9 of them. The 49ers picked up 23 charity points as Marin committed 26 fouls.

Claude Curley and Bill Breuner with 11 and 9 points led the regulars while second string center Larry Trick paced the reserves with 11 markers. Trick, a freshman from San Rafael High, showed promise of future stardom, according to Riemcke, and picked off 10 rebounds.

WASHINGTON (A) - The fg ft pf pts Supreme Court today upheld a lower court ruling requiring dissolution of the International Boxing Clubs of New York and Illinois.

The ruling, by U.S. Dist. Judge Sylvester J. Ryan in New York, also held the Madison Square Garden Corp. and its majority stockholders-James D. Norris of New York and Arthur M. Wertz of Chicago—along with the two clubs had violated the Sherman Anti-trust Law.

Justice Clark delivered the Supreme Court's 5-3 decision. Justice Harlan dissented, joined by Justices Frankfurter and Whittaker. Justice Stewart took no part.

Judge Ryan found the defendants had monopolized interstate commerce in the professional boxing championship field through interlocking corporations, ownership of stadiums, and contracts with boxers.

Norris and Wertz were told to sell their more than 50,-000 shares of stock in the Garden, were prohibited from acting as officers of the Garden corporation, and were limited to promoting two championship fights

They appealed directly to the Supreme Court, asking reversal of Judge Ryan's ruling. Their counsel told the high court Judge Ryan's decree was so severe that a twice-a-week television fight series was jeopardized.

Gaels, Broncs In Showdown Battle Friday

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

First place in the West Coast Athletic Conference basketball chase might just be at stake Friday when Santa Clara plays at St. Mary's.

Both are undefeated in the new season and St. Mary's Gaels have two victories and Santa Clara's Broncos one.

If the Broncos want to go onto the floor at Moraga with a chance at the lead, they also will have to get by San Jose State tomorrow in San Jose Civic Auditorium.

In the other two WCAC games this week, Pepperdine plays at Loyola Tuesday and San Jose at College of the Pacific Friday. Pepperdine entertains the University of San Diego Saturday in a non-league tilt.

San Francisco's Dons, the defending champs, evened their league mark at one-one Saturday with a 51-46 victory over San Jose.

Navajo Tribe Prepare For Council Election

WINDOW ROCK, ARIZ. (UPI) -The Navajo Tribal Council has adopted its first election code and it warns outsiders to keep funds off any Indian election campaign.

Executive Secretary J. Maurice McCabe said the action is aimed at barring mining, oil and gas factions on the reservation from chipping in to campaign contributions with a receipt of favors hoped for later on.

The 80,000-member Navajo tribe votes March 2-3 for a chairman, vice chairman and 74 council members.

PENALTY STIFF

Navajos violating the resolution adopted here will be subject to $300 fines or 30 days in jail. Candidates breaking the law will forfeit any office they might win as well.

The tribe in New Mexico Arizona and Utah has received some $10 million in recent years from royalties and drilling rights for uranium, gas and oil exploration.

CTA EMPLOYEE

Dr. Strayer was hired by the California Teachers Assn. to study California's revenue structure. The teachers have a special stake in avoiding or wiping out any deficits. Education accounts for 40 cents of each state budget dollar, and the CTA is out to augment school apportionments.

Dr. Strayer calls California a high tax state but says it can afford to pay more. He assesses California's tax system as superior to most states. TAX SOURCES

His report suggests these possible new or increased Cigarette tax, 3 cents per package, 60 million dollars;

Much of Corte Madera sprawls across newly developed marshlands and thus is potential flood territory. Yet, despite wind, rain and high tides, the amount of flooding of homes and business buildings the past two years was probably less

There are a number of reasons for this record, many of which are related to the hard work of Frank Reis, Corte Madera's 47-year-old superintendent of public works. Reis, whose winter life is dictated by the tide tables, is an eight-year veteran of Corte Madera street and flood control work and at-the-scene superof Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow.

Reis' trademark, you might say, is the venerable town Jeep, in which he daily makes one, two or three rounds of Corte Madera's 38 "automatic" flood gates to do inspection, repair or cleaning.

He also uses the four-wheel drive vehicle on his "night patrols," in which he bounces around in the muddy darkness from Lucky drive ("Lucky if you get there") to H. H. Koch and Sons luggage factory.

> The fact that Corte Madera has 38 gates and neighboring Larkspur has only one is no sign of weakness to Reis. He claims the Corte Madera style of marsh land development, utilizing natural canals and ponding areas, is one of the most inexpensive systems for flood control and one of the best.
